TCF Names Sherry Lee and Victoria Young to Board of Trustees

As part of our strategic plan to expand our Board of Trustees, The Center Foundation (TCF) is delighted to announce that community members Sherry Lee and Victoria Young (pictured below) have joined the organization as our newest Trustees to help advance our mission. Welcome additions to the Board, Lee and Young bring with them both robust experience in nonprofits, as well as marketing and sales respectively.

Sherry Lee is a senior marketing communications professional with 20 plus years' experience developing and executing strategy for corporations and nonprofit organizations.

Her career has spanned three continents as: a respected business journalist for The Wall Street Journal Europe and The Economist Group; a senior-level marketing communications professional covering 20 countries for Pricewaterhouse Coopers; and a passionate advocate for women and children for nonprofit organizations including serving as Board Vice President for an AIDS orphanage in Brazil, a Peace Corps volunteer in Paraguay, and a United Way houseparent in Atlanta, GA.

Sherry is multilingual, adept at building consensus in complex organizations, and enjoys mentoring.

Victoria Young spent her career as an international financial markets professional with various large banks in the Mid-Atlantic region, both in senior sales and management positions. She received her BA from the University of Michigan and her MBA from Case Western Reserve University.

She also served as a board member for the Support Center for Child Advocates and DoughMain Education Foundation, and volunteers at The Women's Resource Center, Providence Animal Shelter, and the Animal Rescue League of Berks.

Currently, Victoria advises women in personal and career matters through her coaching business, The Peace Loop. A long-time resident of Media, PA, Victoria has served as a mentor in The Center Foundation's WomenCare® program since 2017.
